

Work Starts On New $36,000 Apartment

New West Missouri Street Building to Be a Model One.

Work was started this morning upon an apartment house that will be one of the handiest in the entire city. The building, which is being erected by W. L. Ramsey, will be situated on West Missouri street, adjoining the Plaza apartments on the east, and will cost approximately $36,000. It will be built like the picturesque Spanish mission style, of stucco, with red tile roofing. The building will have two towers, which will make pleasant roof garden terraces in the summer time. The building will be three stories high, and will contain 26 apartments. These will range from one room to five room apartments. The one room apartments are to be attractive features of the interior arrangement of the building. These will include a reception hall, a large living room, 12 by 15 feet; a dressing room, containing a wall bed, private bath, kitchen and sleeping porch. Every apartment will have a sleeping porch. The entrance vestibule is to be finished in marble and tile, and will open into a roomy lobby, which will be finished in mission style and from which a circular staircase will ascend to the upper floors. Each apartment will have its dumbwaiter delivery box. J. R. and O. Thornton are the architects.

R. Cruz Buys Bungalow.
A. H. McVeigh has sold to R. Cruz the five room brick house at 2222 Tularosa street. This house is on a lot 27 1/2 by 125 feet. The selling price was $1250, and the transaction was made through Hawkins Bros.

LOS ANGELES RICHEST OF FARM COUNTIES

Washington, D. C., March 25.—Los Angeles county, California, took the first rank as regards value of crops of all the 2,950 counties of the United States, according to the final report on the census of agriculture 1910. Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, ranked second.

The valuation (at the farm) of the crops raised in Los Angeles county, California, according to the census, was $14,750,990.

The principal crops raised in Los Angeles county in the order of their value were wheat, hay and alfalfa, oranges, live stock, dairy products, etc., and vegetables.

The figures for Los Angeles county show that the total value of the crops raised there averaged $55 per acre and $29 per capita for the city of Los Angeles with a population of 320,000, being within Los Angeles county, is the chief reason for the low rate per capita.

DEPUTY U. S. MARSHALS
BUSY SERVING PROCESSES
Processes are being served by Deputy United States marshals Edward Bryant and Charles R. Moore for the April term of the United States district court.

A large amount of civil business will be transacted by the federal court at the spring term, as well as criminal business arising from violations of the neutrality laws.

The two most important cases to be considered will be the case against Powell Roberts and others charged with conspiracy to smuggle a car of ammunition to Mexico and the investigation of the charges against Miguel E. Diebold, the Mexican consul general and his associates, who are being held to the federal grand jury on the charge of recruiting men for the purpose of having them enlist for military service in Mexico.

EVIL DAYS

Adventures of a Grouch

"MRS. FOXWORTHY invited me to take a ride in her limousine this afternoon," said Mrs. Jamesworthy, "so I'll take advantage of the opportunity to call on the dressmaker and see why she's so slow about finishing my new gown."

"That's all very well," replied Jamesworthy, "but to the dressmaker's on pump and circumstance, as becomes the wife of a man who has been vainly trying for 30 years to put a handful of pieces of eight in the savings bank, and when she looks out of her humble case and sees you descending from the limousine, she'll begin to appreciate the gulf that separates the laboring classes from the patricians."

"I'm glad you have the opportunity to ride free in Mrs. Foxworthy's limousine, for it makes it unnecessary to hire a hack or band wagon, and the older I grow the more I realize that I should be grateful for every chance to save a penny. I thoroughly approve your program, Mrs. Jamesworthy, but I can't help recalling the days of my youth and reflecting upon the changes time hath wrought."

"My mother was a remarkably fine woman and helped my father in every possible way to keep the wolf from the door. She never drove to the dressmaker's in a limousine or any other sort of conveyance, for the reason that she never employed a dressmaker. She made all her own dresses, and nothing natural taste about matters of dress."

"You don't need to tell me anything about that," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "I have seen pictures of your mother in her home made dresses, and it is no surprise to me that she died young. A woman condemned to such clothing could find no object in living to a green old age."

"Your rival sneers at the memory of my sainted mother as what one might expect in this age of female flippancy when nothing is sacred but the name of a favorite milliner," retorted Jamesworthy, bitterly. "My mother's dress may seem somewhat out of date and to the vitiated taste of the 20th century wife, but when it was made and in action her husband had a few paces left wherewith to buy seed potatoes and have his hair cut. In those days women had some initiative, some independence, and they dressed themselves according to the dictates of their own consciences, and didn't care three whoops whether they were in fashion or not."

"Nowadays a woman is afraid to order a dress until she has seen the latest decree from some incognito designer in Paris. She must know definitely whether she should wear her underclothing outside or inside of her gown, and such information can be gained in Paris alone. When mother determined upon having a new dress, which only happened when the old dress was tattered at the knees and the neighbors talked about it, she went to the store and bought some good substantial material of a sober hue, and then she took it home and made it into a gown, and we were all proud of her and it, notwithstanding your sneers."

"She did all the sewing for the family and for many years she did it all by hand. It was not until the older children were earning money, and they insisted upon her having a sewing machine, that she yielded. Father had explored her to let him buy her a sewing machine a thousand times, but she always refused, saying that the money was better in the bank. I never yet had to beg you to buy anything, I say that much for you, Mrs. Jamesworthy. Never once have you hurt my feelings by protesting against the purchase of anything new. If I should hint at this moment that we ought to buy a moving picture apparatus and give free entertainment every evening, you would embrace me and tell me to go to it."

"I think that would be a splendid idea," cried Mrs. Jamesworthy. "We could use the sitting room, and if we took the chairs from there, the parlor and dining room we could invite 30 or 40 people!"

PLAN TO PURCHASE LA VANITA MINE

Douglas, Ariz., March 25.—To close a deal for the purchase of the La Vanita mine, Robert Connelly, George Lister and Frank Harvey have gone to the Arizpe district of Sonora, Antonio Lagos is owner of the La Vanita property which consists of a group of gold bearing claims. The property will bring in the neighborhood of $10,000, it is stated. It is said the purchase is being made by the above named men in behalf of Boston capitalists who have several other valuable holdings in Mexico.

Whether or not operations will be commenced at once is not certain but the deal is completed and it is said, however, that a force of men will be put to work overhauling the machinery as soon as conditions warrant. Mr. Harvey is to have charge of the operations, it is stated. Much ore has been mined and shipped from the property, but it has been idle since the Madero revolution.

Robert Warner of the Chicago Exploration and Development company and Franklin B. Harding, the company's consulting engineer, have gone into the Mochituma district to examine a mining property in behalf of the company.

The Chicago Exploration and Development company has a group of claims in the Whetstone mountains of Cochise county, Ariz., and Mr. Harding stated that work would be begun within 60 days.

BELMONT HAS SPENT HIS FORTUNE, SAYS FATHER

New York, March 25.—Young Raymond Belmont has spent nearly all his fortune and his allowance has been cut off, according to testimony given by August Belmont Tuesday in the supreme court where the young man is defending a separation suit brought by his wife, Ethel Lorraine, now Mrs. Belmont, claimed she was an actress, but was afterward found never to have been on the stage.

August Belmont testified as to his supervision over the estate and property of his son since the boy was born. The youth has a few dogs and ponies left, Mr. Belmont said, but after over due drafts and other incidentals are deducted from the estate there remains today but $14,000 in his son's name, estimating the securities on the present market value.

When the defendant was 21 years old in May, 1902, his estate was worth more than $100,000, the father testified. When Raymond married, in 1912, Mr. Belmont added, he was cut off from his $2000 annual allowance and has since given up his position at a salary of $75 in a banking house of August Belmont and Company.

Justice Greenbaum decided to accept the testimony as partial evidence and to give counsel for young Mrs. Belmont the right to examine books of August Belmont and company and cross examine the capitalist subsequently.

The trial will be resumed Friday.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" best for tender stomach, liver, bowels—tastes delicious.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the faded, when taken in the form of gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp, and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application of two, your hair becomes beautifully black, thick and glossy, and you look years younger.—Advertisement.
